Athletic Coaching, Certificate

This certificate is recommended for students majoring in disciplines such as exercise science, health and physical education, athletic training, and education and for students who have a personal interest in coaching as a profession. It provides students with the necessary skills to work in the athletic coaching industry. Students will have a chance to earn a variety of certifications, including ASEP Coaching Certification, Certified Disability Sport Specialist, Certified Special Olympics Coach.

Hotel, Restaurant, Tourism, and Event Management, AS or BS

IUP has the largest hospitality management program in Pennsylvania's State System of Higher Education and has been accredited continuously since 1994. You can build a rewarding career in the world of hotels, restaurants, tourism, and special events. The hospitality industry is full of opportunity and welcomes your creativity and enthusiasm. In IUP's Hotel, Restaurant, Tourism, and Event Management program, you'll focus on building leadership skills and enhancing technical skills. You'll have fun learning how to work in a chef-taught restaurant/lab as you prepare to pursue exciting career options all over the world.

Sport Administration, BS

In the BS in Sport Administration degree track, you'll develop the operational and management skills needed to work in high school and college athletic departments, coaching facilities, community recreation organizations, minor and major league franchises, commercial sports facilities, the YMCA system, the golf and resort industries, and in other athletic and sports-related groups.

Sport Management, MS

With a master's in sports management, you'll be prepared for the many opportunities available in the sports industry. With the practical, industry-specific skills and the knowledge you'll gain, you'll be ready to function in a management capacity right out of the gate—and achieve success in any professional organization.

Adapted Physical Activity, MEd

You believe everyone deserves access to fitness, fun, exercise, and the long-lasting benefits they provide. But you also know that some people can't access all of this unless activities and equipment are adapted to their special needs. In IUP's Adapted Physical Activity MEd program, you'll learn how to help people with disabilities move beyond their limits. In the master in adapted physical activity program, you'll get the information, background, and experience you'll need to help children and adults with different physical needs enjoy more active and healthy independent lives.
